

CERTIFICATE OF TRANSLATION FORM

For research conducted in languages other than English, all versions of the research material, English and non-English, must be uploaded to eIRB+, approved by the IRB before their use, and retained in the research file. A qualified translator must assure [or certify] the accuracy of the translations. Individuals who translate the material must briefly describe their qualifications, skills, or experience for serving in this role and assure the accuracy of the translations. Their signature on this CERTIFICATE of TRANSLATION FORM gives evidence of their assurance. The form must be completed and uploaded to e-IRB. For more information about translation requirements, see Translator Qualifications and Assurances Instructions, which can be found at <https://go.rutgers.edu/HSPP-Toolkit>.

Explanation: I am currently employed as an Assistant Professor in the Department of Spanish and Portuguese at Rutgers University. I have studied Portuguese since 2010, and have conducted research on the language since 2017. I conducted fieldwork in Brazil in 2019, and have undertaken various online projects related to the language. Finally, I have research on Portuguese that has been published in the Journal of Portuguese Linguistics and Languages.

My co-author for this project, Robert Esposito, has an MA in Translation and Interpreting from Rutgers University, and oversaw the translation process.

List the Document(s) you translated into a language other than English [or back-translated] for this research. Please include the version and/or date, if applicable:

Back translated items:

- Consent materials
- Recruitment materials (posters, emails, social media posts)
- Sociodemographic Questionnaire

The stimuli for the project as well as the Bilingual Language Profile (BLP) were previously translated, as they are validated measures used in other studies.

I believe that I have translated the research materials listed above accurately reflect the English-language texts of the study.
